Canadian Association of Speech-Language Pathologists and Audiologists

CASLPA-ACOA

2006 Annual Report

President's Message

President

Warmest greetings, fellow members! 2006 was CASLPA's banner year for public, professional and government relations! The development and distribution of two public service announcements (PSAs) for television has already led to a heightened profile of our professions with the Canadian public. Media coverage of our press conference on the dangers of noisy toys exceeded our best expectations and highlighted the important work of audiologists. Three months after the press conference we continued to receive reports of media interviews with audiologists in communities across Canada. Our May Month campaign yielded record media pick-up statistics. Members, directors and professional staff contributed numerous resources for publications in popular Canadian magazines, newspapers and audio-visual media throughout the year. The expansion and fine-tuning of our "Find a Professional" website area has provided the public with easier access to our services.

Our relationships with other health and education professionals define our future as partners in a society where interdisciplinary programs continue to grow. Knowledge transfer is an important vehicle to strengthening our mutual respect and collaboration. As experts in communication, we educate others on the best way to recognize and support individuals facing communication challenges. This year, we collaborated with a number of organizations, including l'Ordre des Orthophonistes et Audiologistes du Québec, CLLRNet, and the Elks of Canada to secure funding, create, publish and distribute eye-catching communication growth charts and information brochures to family physicians, paediatricians, and early education centres. Feedback from recipients has been overwhelmingly positive!

Accessing the ears of governmental officials is an ongoing challenge for our members, so we developed an election toolkit prior to the 2006 federal election. This toolkit provides a valuable resource for members wishing to approach and inform MPs and MLAs about the critical issues facing our professions and clients. An invitation from the Standing Senate Committee on Social Affairs, Science and Technology to participate in a hearing on funding for autism treatment provided CASLPA members with access to a distinguished senate forum. During an intensive face-to-face session, CASLPA's representatives had the opportunity to inform committee members of specific issues affecting our services, to showcase our expertise and to offer suggestions for improved services to individuals with ASD. Many of our suggestions are reflected in the senate committee's report. In collaboration with other members of the Pan-Canadian Alliance, we established a task force to tackle the issue of service wait-time benchmarking for our professional services. The first phase of this project has been completed with the development of wait-times definitions. Further, CASLPA has been a leader in negotiations with federal 3rd party payers such as Veteran's Affairs Canada to improve funding for audiology services.

By focusing intensive energy on strategic initiatives that increase our profile to the public, other professionals and governments, we have strived to meet CASLPA members' needs. Since 2006 has also been a banner year for membership, with a growing family of over 5000, our strength in numbers has enhanced our efforts. Thank you for your ongoing support!

Auditor's Report

To the Members of the Canadian Association of Speech-Language Pathologists and Audiologists

I have audited the statement of financial position of the Canadian Association of Speech-Language Pathologists and Audiologists (the "Association") as at December 31, 2005 and December 31, 2006 and the statements of operations and net assets for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Association's management. My responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on my audit.

I conducted my audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that I plan and perform an audit to obtain reasonable assurance whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation.

In my opinion, these financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Association as at December 31, 2005 and December 31, 2006 and the results of its operations for the years then ended in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles.
