

JUMP-START YOUR CAREER

Founded in 1964, with more than 6,000 members and associates, SAC is the only national body that supports and represents the professional needs of speech-language pathologists, audiologists and communication health assistants within one organization. With the support of our members and associates, SAC champions the needs of people with communications disorders.

As a SAC student associate you belong to an extensive network of fellow students and professionals who work in speech-language pathology and audiology across Canada and around the world.
