

Communication Health Assistants

Supporting Your Communication Health

Communication health assistants help people of all ages with communication, swallowing, hearing and balance disorders.

Other titles including:

- Audiology assistant
- Communicative disorders assistant
- Speech-language pathology assistant

Communication health assistants are specifically trained to provide communication health services under the supervision of a speech-language pathologist or audiologist.

To learn more about communication health assistants, please visit:

www.sac-oac.ca

Speech-Language &
Audiology Canada
Communicating care

