

Speech-Language & Audiology Canada's

CAREER DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM (CDP)

About the Program

Speech-Language & Audiology Canada's Career Development Program (CDP) is a mentorship program that connects students and new graduates with speech-language pathologists and audiologists who have been working in their respective professions for a number of years. The program is designed to help new and soon-to-be-new professionals navigate the opportunities and challenges they face at the beginning of their career. Mentees will gain a better understanding of the professional world, expand their network and identify areas for personal and professional development. Mentors will have the opportunity to give back to their profession, make new contacts, learn about new trends and enhance their leadership, communication and management skills. Both mentees and mentors will be able to earn CEE credits for their participation in this program.

Mentors and mentees will be paired based on a number of factors including profession, location, language proficiencies and professional interests. Mentors and mentees will be in regular contact throughout the duration of the program, which runs from October through March.
